About Me

As a Computer Science graduate, my expertise lies in harnessing cutting-edge technologies to develop dynamic applications, such as websites and engaging games. Proficient in a suite of development tools, including Next.js and React for front-end innovation, Flask and Spring for robust back-end solutions, as well as JavaFX and Unity for creating applications and immersive gaming experiences. I have also started to integrate AI-based analysis tools into my projects, enhancing content understanding and delivering smarter digital products. Beyond my technical skills, I bring a strong passion for technology and a commitment to delivering high-quality, impactful solutions.
